Poetry in the Air

ALOK PRAKASHAN

*This morning I woke up to music
There was poetry in the air
The words swirled around me
Gently from somewhere...*

A full-page photograph of a sunset over a body of water. The sun is low on the horizon, creating a bright, golden glow that reflects on the water's surface. The sky is a mix of soft orange and pale yellow. In the foreground, there are silhouettes of trees and grassy banks. A semi-transparent grey rectangular box is centered over the image, containing five lines of text in a black, elegant cursive script.

*A tender mellow moment
Forgotten over time
Flashed across the sky
A musing so sublime...*

*I stood up on my toes to touch
The drizzle above the clouds
And burst the froth across the sky
Into twinkling starry crowds...*

A photograph of a window with a wooden frame and a dark metal railing. The window is slightly open, and the view outside is a misty, green landscape with trees and hills. The text is overlaid on the image in a cursive font.

*Then I woke up this morning
There was music in the air
The melodies swirled around me softly from somewhere...*
